

HERE'S the POINT!

By SPENCE HELD

The sleepy atmosphere of the Tijuana police station was disturbed late one night by the jangle of a telephone.

"Bueno," yawned the desk sergeant into the mouthpiece, not bothering to remove his feet from the desk.

"This is Chief Montano," said a familiar voice. "Send some men out to stop those auto sirens. People in the hotels can't sleep."

The sergeant routed out a riot squad, dispatching them in a fast patrol car toward the scene of the commotion. Then he resumed his midnight siesta.

In a few minutes the men were back, protesting volubly at being sent on a fool's errand.

"Well?" yawned the sergeant. "No sirens," explained one. "Millions of frogs singing in river bottom!"

Yeah, that's one of my anecdotes about Tijuana's comic opera constabulary of the 1930's.

There's always something going on there but it's been a long time since I've seen anything remotely resembling humor in the news about the border town.

Latest word is that the Ninth District PTA has approved a proposed County ordinance that would close the border to unescorted juveniles.

During the lush days of Prohibition the line was officially closed after dark to everybody at hours which varied according to the number of telegrams sent to Washington by the Wet and Dry elements on the American side.

Convivial Californians who over-estimated the deadline found the big gate swung shut across the highway, impounding their cars in Mexico until 6 o'clock in the morning.

"Civied" sailors saw A.W.O.L. starting them in the face. Truant husbands and wives felt suddenly sober. High school boys and girls ditto.

However, the American border officials usually looked the other way while the stragglers stumbled Indian-file up the hill east of the gate and crawled through a drooping section of barbed wire fence.

It was not unusual to see dignified dowagers squirming under the wire, and many a debutante left shreds of her evening gown fluttering in the breeze.

Embarrassing, to say the least, but better than spending the night in "T-town."

That escape route was known as The Hole in the Fence.

I was glad to see that North Carolina edged out Kansas in the NCAA basketball finals.

Why? Because Kansas has a 7-foot stork who reduces the game to its ultimate absurdity by being able to reach within 6 inches of the rim of the basket.

In other words he stands flat-footed, takes dead aim and swishes the ball through the netting with a 6-inch toss while thousands cheer—or ought to.

This is basketball?

Personally, I think anybody over 6' 6" should be barred. This would clear the atmosphere and give the game back to the athletes.

Peninsula Boy Scouts To Distribute 'Goodwill Bags' In Area Saturday

Boy Scouts' annual Good Turn Day will get underway Saturday, March 30 with the distribution of some 75,000 "Goodwill Bags" to city householders.

The Good Turn Day collection campaign, slated to continue through April 6, is a drive to collect "useable, wearable or repairable" articles to be turned over to Goodwill Industries, a welfare organization for the employment of the handicapped.

Handicapped Goodwill employees repair and reconduct the material, and it is then retailed through Goodwill's local outlets at nominal cost to needy and low-income families.

According to Vernon Guess, district Boy Scout executive, articles which are particularly acceptable for "Goodwill Bags" include used and outgrown clothing, shoes, small electrical appliances, books, small articles of furniture, and current maga-

Mrs. Edwin Peterson Heads Drive In Area For CWU Building Fund

Mrs. Edwin Peterson, 1468 Savoy Circle, has been named chairman of the Peninsula area in the General Gifts Division of California Western University's $1,500,000 current building fund drive.

The appointment was announced by John McQuilken, county assessor, who heads the teams in the West Section of this division of the campaign.

Mrs. Peterson, who has long been identified with civic projects, is recruiting four chairmen to work with her. She reports that so far she has enlisted the help of Joseph Richardson, Ocean Beach insurance man who is active in civic affairs, and Mrs. Vera F. Beardsley, owner of Beardsley Funeral Home and prominent in community projects.

Mrs. Peterson stated that as General Gifts sections are organized they will launch their phase of the drive. Corporate and Special Individual Gifts have been in the field since Feb. 22, she said, under chairmanship of Ewart Goodwin and Harold B. Starkey, Sr., respectively.

She also reported that at the campaign's first progress meeting held Monday, slightly more than half a million dollars was tallied.

Mrs. Don Gallacher of 1555 Roscamans St. advertised complete twin beds and miscellaneous items for sale in the Peninsula News last week.

She got no large number of calls—just the right ones. She sold everything and was gleeful over her success.

Everybody read the classified ads in the Peninsula News. Try one and see.

Guess said that distribution of the bags will begin about 8 a.m. Saturday with Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts calling at each home in their neighborhoods. Householders will be given one bag each.

Guess said that residents who do not plan to be home next Saturday should leave a note on the front door so that they will not be missed in the bag distribution. The note merely needs to say, "Scout—leave bag," Guess said.

The filled "Goodwill Bags" will be collected April 6 by a fleet of 30 trucks donated by the Trucking Association of California and manned by volunteer Association truck drivers. The trucks will be assisted by Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and volunteers from State College fraternities.

Peninsula Residents Will Receive Salk Inoculations Here Saturday

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, yesterday urged all persons 40 years of age and under who have not yet been inoculated against paralytic polio to start their series of inoculations at once.

"There is still time," he said, "for people to get their first and second inoculations before the onset of the polio season. Polio comes to San Diego County with warm weather. The season usually begins here between the middle of May and the middle of June."

A public immunization center scheduled for Saturday, March 30, will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Point Loma High School, 2335 Chatsworth Blvd.

The center is scheduled by the San Diego Department of Public Health in cooperation with the San Diego County Medical Society and is staffed by volunteer physicians.

Persons who received their first injection Feb. 9 should return to the same center for their second injection Saturday, March 30.

"The first inoculation of Salk vaccine is approximately 50 percent effective in preventing paralytic polio," Dr. Askew said. "The effectiveness of the second injection is about 85 percent. The third injection is even higher."

"It would be a good idea," Dr. Askew added, "for persons who have had their second inoculation to mark their calendar, remembering the date and make an appointment with their private physician when it falls due."

Money Not 'Tight' At First Federal Savings & Loan

The widely publicized "tight money" situation does not apply to the lending program at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, according to Harold B. Starkey, president of the institution.

During January and February of the current year, First Federal made 106 loans on dwelling units in metropolitan San Diego for a total of $1,421,000, and the tempo of March applications indicates that a record first quarter for loan volume is certain.

First Federal maintains three offices which are identified by the big Time and Temperature signs at Fourth Ave. at B St., downtown San Diego; 42nd and El Cajon Blvd., and Fifth and University Aves.

1957 Community Success Report

Point Loma and Ocean Beach residents will receive a full accounting, in April, of funds pledged to the 1956 United Success Drive, John D. Thompson, Jr., campaign chairman, announced this week.

The accounting will be made through the 1957 Community Success Report, which will be distributed through civic and employee groups in this area. Copies may also be picked up at the Peninsula News office, 1918 Bacon St.

The campaign, which was conducted on behalf of 90 Red Feather services in six Community Chests in the county, raised a total of $1,865,000—the largest amount ever raised in any single community fund campaign.

Thompson pointed out that the purpose of the Community Success Report is to illustrate to contributors that money pledged for community services is well spent to provide the most service for each dollar.

"Wise and efficient allocation of the money," he said, "is just as important as raising it. In concurring with United Success Drive policy, I feel each contributor should have an accurate accounting for these dollars and to know how they provide miracles in the lives of those using Red Feather services."

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded prints and slides selected by the juries for 1st, 2nd and 3rd places, respectively, and ribbons will go to prints and slides selected for honorable mention. In addition, a trophy will be given for the print voted most popular by Exposition visitors.

Last day prints can be submitted is May 29. Slides will be received until June 6, Smith said. Exhibitors are limited to four entries in each category.

Entry forms are available by writing to Smith at the Southern California Exposition, Del Mar.

Warren-Walker

The Nursery Department of Warren-Walker School visited Fire Station 22 Wednesday, March 20.

Excursions such as this are used to acquaint young children with public agencies whose job it is to protect our health and safety.

At the March Assembly program, Barry Coy, representing the fourth and fifth grades; Patty Hogan, second and third grades, and Jeanette Chandler, first grade, presented Mrs. Walker the money that had been collected in their rooms for trees for the school grounds.

Jeanette Chandler read an original poem of presentation, and Sandra Whitmore, an eighth grade student, read a poem written by upper grade students. The upper grade students then sang Joyce Kilmer's "Trees."

Peter Casey, Frank Porter and Richard Porter presented several seedlings to Mrs. Walker for the school grounds.

A skit, "Little Brown Dog finds a Home," was presented by the Kindergarten group.

As a final surprise, Mrs. Walker was told that the Blue Pacific Nursery had offered to donate trees for the grounds, suggesting the money collected by the children be sent to the Crippled Children's Fund.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

The Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday is entitled "Reality." The Golden Text from Psalms (18:32) keynotes the subject in the words, "It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

Jeremiah's prophecy of the promise of man's real status as a child of God is given in the sermon. He writes, "This shall be the covenant that I will make . . . I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people" (31:33).

This thought is correlated in a passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy which declares "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of Life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained and his capabilities revealed" (p. 322).

Who's Barking up the Wrong Tree?

Weight watchers and dieters who sit down on the job of living are barking up the wrong tree. Some outstanding scientists have tracked down the principal cause of overweight—lack of activity—at work and at play.

This underactivity is robbing adults and children alike of their favorite pastime—eating. According to these nutritionists, overeating no longer is considered the first cause of obesity, America's foremost health menace. These scientists have found that creeping overweight follows lessened activity.

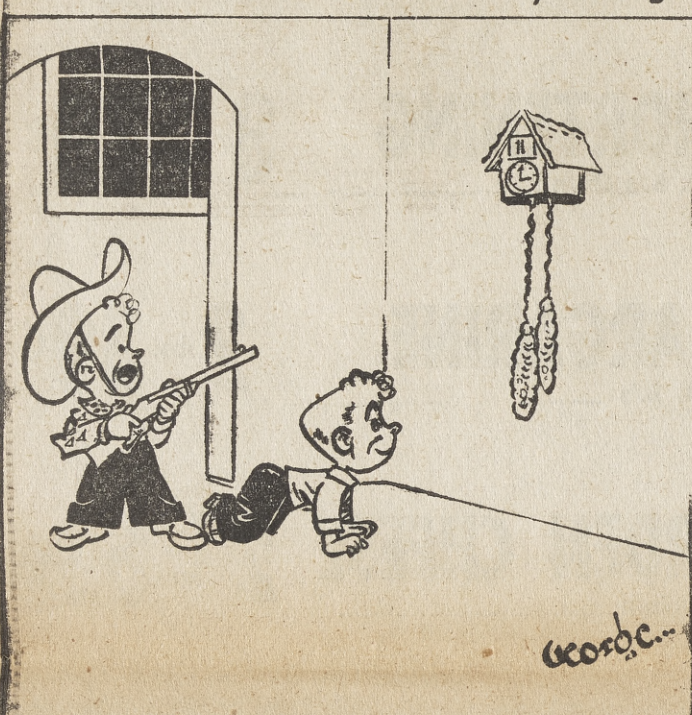

Recently, a Harvard University study emphasized an alarming trend: Suburban high school girls, on the whole, are not active. Researchers compared two groups of these girls. One group was obese, the other, of normal weight. They noted that girls of normal weight spent twice as much time in some type of physical activity, which included dancing—and they ate more—than did their obese classmates. Later, at summer camp, when girls in both groups were under strenuous routines, all lost weight, in spite of eating more than they did before. This fact refutes the tale that added activity increases appetite to such an extent that a gain in weight results.

The role of exercise in weight control has been abused. Statements, such as "You must walk rapidly for six hours to lose one pound," also can mean a brisk one-hour walk on six days. Dieters who unwittingly reduce their requirements for food by a continuous sit-down program are barking up the wrong tree. Through constant restriction of different foods, they inflict a life-long state of mild hunger upon themselves. In contrast, an active life, with regular exercise, permits the enjoyment of normal meals which include plenty of enriched bread and cereals, fruits and vegetables, meat and milk—all foods needed by the body.

Highway Patrol Issues Warning

SACRAMENTO—Drivers who fail to dim their car headlights for other drivers as required by law are a menace on the highways, according to the California Highway Patrol.

"The law requires that when a driver approaches within 500 feet of an oncoming vehicle, he shall use a distribution of light so aimed that the glaring rays are not projected into the eyes of the oncoming driver," stated Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "This also applies to traffic on divided highways."

"In addition to this requirement it is necessary for the driver of a vehicle following within 200 feet of another vehicle to use the low beam distribution of light," Caldwell warned. "Courteous drivers will always dim the headlights when meeting or following another vehicle."

"The patrol asks every driver to be more courteous in the use of headlights. Cooperate and help assure safety for yourself and the drivers you meet or follow in the darkness."

Models will include: Janet Bettag, Patricia Buechner, Sandra Cox, Marilou Hage, Kathie Parker, Jennifer Pearson, Marjorie Perrine, Mary Jo Ross, Janell Short, Charlotte Smith, Sue Stevenson and Susan Ward.

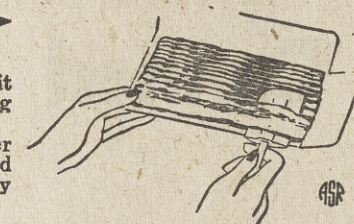

Bacon Hints and Shortcuts

By Marie Gifford

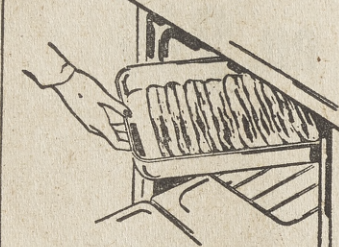

Have trouble separating → bacon slices?

Here's an easy way to do it without tearing or stretching the bacon.

Slip a rubber spatula under the right end of each slice and "cut" from right to left, gently lifting to remove top slice.

← No watching, no turning, no draining—when you bake bacon!

Arrange slices on rack in shallow baking pan with fat edge of one strip overlapping lean of the next strip. Bake in a 400° F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Slices will be evenly cooked without turning.

1. Perfect bacon is crisp but not brittle—evenly cooked from end to end.
2. Buy bacon by brand—your greatest assurance of quality.
3. Buy just enough bacon for your family's weekly needs.
4. Do not freeze bacon. Keep unused portion well wrapped and in the refrigerator.
5. For bacon in a hurry, cook whole package of bacon in advance. Drain on absorbent paper and wrap in foil. Store in refrigerator, ready for quick reheating.
6. Do not limit bacon to breakfast meals. It's delightful served with vegetables, soups and salads for luncheon and dinner.
7. Save and use flavorful bacon drippings for soups, sauces and for seasoning and frying other foods.

Fun for a Rainy Day!

"MARCH WINDS and April showers make way for sweet May flowers" . . . but they also make time go oh, so slowly for the youngsters who still can't get out to play. Here's an afternoon's diversion that will be great fun for them, and will also deliver a rewarding result! Just get a box of marshmallows, some long gumdrops, small round candies, food coloring and a can of tender, thin flaked coconut. With these supplies on hand, your youngsters will have great fun making cute Easter Bunnies in their gay green coconut nests, like the ones pictured here. And what a treat they'll be to serve at a rainy-day tea party for the neighborhood small fry!

EASTER BUNNIES IN COCONUT NESTS

1 can Baker's Angel Flake Coconut 16 long pink gumdrops
Green food coloring Tiny round candies
16 marshmallows Toothpicks

Place coconut in glass jar, filling the jar not more than half full. Dilute about 1/4 teaspoon green food coloring in a teaspoon of milk or water and sprinkle over coconut. Cover jar and shake vigorously until coloring is evenly distributed. Arrange the tinted coconut or small plates or coasters for the bunny nests. To make Easter bunny stick the side edge of one marshmallow onto top side of a second, marshmallow with a toothpick. Cut one end of each gumdrop to a point and then push the gumdrops into place for bunny ears. Use the cut-off slivers of gumdrops for bunny whiskers. Put on tiny round candies for eyes and nose. Repeat to make 8 Easter bunnies.

'LONG ARM OF LAW'

The sports car enthusiast was rapidly widening out the gap between himself and the pursuing California highway patrolman. As the driver swung his flashy car around another curve and over the crest of another little hill, he saw at the bottom of the hill, just a few thousands yards away, a road block, several patrol cars, and about a dozen burly officers with revolvers, shotguns, and machine guns at the ready.

Staggered by this sudden manifestation of the "long arm of the law," the driver brought his sports car to a screeching halt, got out rather shakily, and went over to give himself up. The "officers," reports the National Automobile Club, were just as amazed as he. They happened to be movie actors and extras making a movie out on location.

In a moment or two, however, the real officer arrived and the situation was soon well in hand.

WRONG COLOR

The doorbell rang. Standing on the porch was a tall lad of junior high age.

"I don't know whether you remember me, but about five years ago you gave me and my sister a cat. We just love the cat and want to keep her, but we have a problem. Several weeks ago another cat 'adopted' us. We don't know what to do with it. We thought that maybe you—"

"Wait a minute! A cat came to us for about three months and suddenly disappeared. Maybe it's the same one. Is your new cat yellow with a black tail?"

No, ma'am. It's pregnant."

A NEW RECORD

One of my favorite teenagers informs me there's a girl in Point Loma High School who has set a new record.

"She can erase 35 words a minute," he said.

A NEW POET

The language lesson that day was writing a poem. The teacher explained that all poetry need not rhyme. Several examples were read and the class was asked to write a poem.

The nine year olds began eagerly to get their thoughts on paper. One little fellow squirmed, gazed at the ceiling, gave the teacher a few looks of disgust, played with his pencil.

Suddenly he stared at the teacher's desk, then started writing fast and furiously. He finished just in time.

HIS POEM

I saw a row of books
On my teachers' desk.
I saw a speller there
I didn't like the sight of it.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT

Gossip. Three magazines, to our knowledge, include articles on the subject this month.

Intelligent control over our tongues would be worth the effort, it was pointed out. Self control. (It's always popping up.)

One magazine reports that the type of gossip one prefers is a pretty "reliable index of our own fears, frustrations, ambitions, insecurities and guilts."

Another psychologist observed that "people who can't face up to their faults often try to find scapegoats." It's much easier to shut our eyes to our faults and believe the worst about others, projecting onto others the things we don't like in ourselves, it was pointed out.

"When you're mature enough to be able to face up to yourself, you'll discover that you can actually like yourself, flaws and all. And then you won't need a scapegoat," said Dr. G. W. Allport.

SHORT STORY

Chapter 1

Two Spanish sailors, here in San Diego awaiting their ship, visited a local library.

They arrived an hour early and kept hanging around, peering through the glass door. Inside the busy librarian grew more and more nervous as the sailors followed her every move with their eyes.

Thinking they might not be able to read the schedule of opening hours, the librarian went to the door and explained the situation.

"Oh, we know we have to wait a long time yet to get in," said one of the Spaniards. "But we don't mind. We are looking at your hair. It is a most beautiful red. None of the women in our country have such hair as you. We like it very much."

Chapter 2

Overheard later in a local beauty shop: "Make it the same red as you did last time," said the customer to the operator.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority
Readers Write

It's always nice to get letters from my readers — especially when they pass along travel tips they've discovered. Here are some of the most recent:

Mrs. C. E. P. of New Jersey suggests carrying a plastic vegetable bag in the car to hold refuse while touring. A paper bag taped to the dashboard is all right for scrap paper. But for fruit peelings — especially the juicy kind — plastic is the answer, and it can be washed out after the trip.

From Houston, Mrs. K. B. sends a new idea for "luggage leaves" in packing a suitcase. (This "filing system" of packing — separating packed clothes by thin plastic leaves — is something I've long endorsed.) Mrs. K. B. suggests using pellen leaves for travel in extremely hot weather. She says pellen does not pick up lint or dust.

Another good idea comes from Mrs. G. F. C. in San Francisco. She says every member of her family knows how to read a road map. So everyone helps the driver on long trips. Even the children contribute. Each day, someone is the "navigator," keeping the map and telling the driver about turns, route numbers, etc. She says this makes the children better passengers.

Cream Sauce—Good Start For Lenten Meals

Cream sauce made with evaporated milk is a fine starting point for a variety of light Lenten luncheons or dinners. The evaporated milk keeps calories down and texture up, costs little and yields twice the nourishment of whole milk per ounce. The cream sauce, with variations in seasoning, readily adapts itself to the requirements of sea food, eggs, spaghetti or vegetables.

Curry sauce and Newberg sauce are two obvious courses cream sauce can take to dress sea food in an attractive way. But there are many others: for boiled fish, try adding lemon juice and capers to your cream sauce. Or make a fish casserole with cream sauce enlivened by the addition of chopped hard-boiled eggs and anchovies.

Basic Cream Sauce

2 tablespoons butter ¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco 1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons flour 1 cup water

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in Tabasco. Add flour and salt; stir to a smooth paste. Add evaporated milk and water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. YIELD: 2 cups.

Stir in:

- 2 cups diced cooked meat, poultry or sea food.
- Thyme, poultry seasoning, curry powder, nutmeg or other favorite spice, or herb.
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, or 2 tablespoons diced pimiento.

To serve: Heat to serving temperature and serve over hot cooked rice. Or turn into 1½-quart casserole, top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 to 25 minutes until lightly browned. YIELD: 4 servings.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Remember the old fable of the city mouse and the country mouse? They learned by bitter experience how important where you live is to your health.

Modern research has given us some more definite information on the effect environment has on two of the most serious menaces to health: mental disorders and tuberculosis.

A study made in New York showed that tuberculosis is most common in areas of poor housing and low income. For example, in crowded Manhattan there was an average of 685 cases of TB for every 100,000 citizens for the years 1949, 1950, and 1951. In the residential borough of Queens the rate was only 252 per 100,000.

Median family income in Manhattan in 1950 was $3073 in comparison with $4121 in Queens. In Manhattan 18.5 per cent of homes were dilapidated, while only 4.7 of the Queens housing was rated so low.

Living in crowded city areas seems also to increase the chances of developing mental illness. A study made in New York state showed a higher prevalence of hospitalization for mental disorders in cities than in rural areas. This was true of general paresis, dementia praecox, psychoses of old age and manic-depressive psychoses.

It's practically impossible to disentangle the maze of environmental factors responsible for this situation, but certainly the stresses and strains of life in large centers of population are important ones. There's evidence, too, that a higher standard of living gives a better chance of avoiding mental illness.

It's obvious from these facts that the fight against disease such as TB and mental illness involves not only to maintain and improve the American standard of living in which we take such pride.

Bible Comment:

Cross of Calvary
Is Sign of Triumph
Not of Destruction

THE final sacrifice of Christ occurred at a place called Golgotha, "the place of the skull." Crucifixion was a death of ignominy—the fate of criminals in the Roman custom of the time. This was emphasized when Christ was crucified between two thieves.

To His physical suffering was added all the scorn and bitterness that His enemies could heap upon Him. Over His head they had nailed an accusation in scathing irony: "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews."

Mocking Him, His enemies said, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save." They did not recognize how essentially that was true, and in how noble and beautiful a way, Christ is the supreme Saviour and He has saved men through His sacrifice just as heroes in human life do this for others.

It is often true that we can help others only by disregarding our own interests and by accepting ways of real suffering and sacrifice. Christ Himself had taught this very plainly when He had told the disciples that they could find life only by losing it.

It was the Roman custom to alleviate somewhat the suffering of those crucified with vinegar-wine mixed with gall. But Christ refused to drink it. He had fought the tempter before and was ready for His sacrifice. He would get His relief from God now, not from any human agency.

The hours of Calvary were the darkest in human history. But they brought to man salvation, healing and inspiration. Today, when countless human beings are undergoing a new Calvary of humanity, may we not find hope in the Cross of Christ, as a symbol of triumph, not of destruction?

Science Fair To Have Everything
From Amoeba To Small 'Tornado'

More than 50,000 visitors are expected to attend the Greater San Diego Science Fair this year, and on display for them will be student exhibits ranging from amoeba to a miniature tornado.

This fair will be the third annual exhibition of displays created by San Diego County students. It will be held April 5 through April 9 in the Balboa Park Conference Building.

On exhibit will be more than 200 outstanding science projects which students have built and which won preliminary Science Fair contests at individual schools.

The Science Fair is sponsored annually by leading San Diego area business firms, technical and scientific organizations, and educational institutions. Its purpose is to encourage science students to enter technical and scientific careers.

In addition to student exhibits, visitors to the fair will be shown films and a display of scientific literature. For the benefit of students, scientists and educators will be on hand to advise on scientific careers. The fair is open to contestants from grades 7 through 12 in all San Diego city and county public, private, and parochial schools. Awards will be given first, second, and third-place winners. Special awards will be given winners in the junior high school division. A boy and a girl winner in the senior division (grades 10 through 12) will be awarded a trip to the National Science Fair in Los Angeles May 9 through May 11.
